"I got to be a part of ideas that became a reality. It means that what I say matters." – Sebastian

"Dia Teens is a non-school like program with a small diverse group of teens who love art but may not necessarily be able to make it. It is less like a class and more of a group of friends organizing a bunch of art-based activities."

– Lauren

Dia Teens

Dia Teens offers young people the space, freedom, and support to make their ambitious ideas real and actionable.

What happens?

COLLABORATE with peers and artists to realize original and self-directed projects

LEARN, PRACTICE, AND DEVELOP skills related to critical thinking, self-expression, and art-making

BUILD COMMUNITY and ENGAGE with other teens, artists, and organizations in the Hudson Valley and beyond

IDENTIFY, QUESTION, AND CHALLENGE ideas related to contemporary art

Who participates?

15

TEENS

15 high school students from across the Hudson Valley with diverse interests and perspectives; some make art, some channel their creativity in other ways

1

ARTIST ALLY

Every year a new artist in residence partners with teens to collaboratively determine original projects over the course of the year

VISITING ARTISTS facilitate workshops, participate in discussions, host teens in their studio and gallery spaces, lead critiques, and invite teens to participate in their own projects. Past guest artists include artists Joëlle Tuerlinckx, Mary Mattingly, Sal Randolph, as well as teens from The Studio Museum in Harlem, New Museum, and Park Avenue Armory.

Where does it take place?

Dia Teens is based at Dia:Beacon, 3 Beekman Street Beacon New York 12508

Past field trips include: Dia sites in New York City, artist studios in Long Island City, Brooklyn Museum, Bruce High Quality Foundation, Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum, MoMA PS1, Pace Gallery, Swale Floating Food Forest, and Whitney Museum of American Art.

When does it happen?

Express Yourself!

Share your thoughts below. There are no right or wrong answers!

Why are you interested in Dia Teens?

What is something that you are really excited about or interested in that makes you, you? Why do you find this thing interesting?

What is something you used to think, but have since changed your mind about? Why did your perspective shift?

Describe a time when you worked on a creative project with other people outside of school. How would you describe the role you most enjoy when collaborating with others?

Do you participate in other activities during the summer and/or school year (clubs, sports, job, volunteering)?
Are there things you would like to do in your free time that are not currently available to you?

Have you ever been to Dia:Beacon? (If not, that's okay! Just write "I haven't been to Dia yet.") If so, what was your experience like? If you could ask an artist or artwork at Dia a question, what would it be?

What question(s) would you like to ask current Dia Teens?

Imagine you can get into a time machine and travel to the future. What three things would you bring with you, and why?

Thank you!
